But the question occurs, . . . can the South tell the world that her seminaries of learning are free from the corrupting influences of black Republicanism, and Southerners can receive Southern education unmixed with instructions hostile to the feelings and opinions their parents have instilled into them?

To A Gentle Baron

The crows of winter on lumbering wings
Flew before us, as we with street-torn throats
Stumbled down rusted alleys, scattering

The snarling dogs and their puckered sides. Our coats
Were thin, needy of mending; our faces laced
And carved sternly by ice; our anecdotes

Stale, clumsy our manners: hardly ones to place
Around your table to enliven a meal.
But you were gently insistent, and thus, embraced

In your perfect silk, we sat down, neer-do-weels
Seated before the feast of a baron, who
Has survived this age of plagues, where rich men reel

Drunkenly through the night, and grinning gods tatoo
Young men with blue-gray death. The close-cropped sun
Slipped, as we talked amid the warming brew

And basted pork. The road yet to be won
From the night called, and we took a slow good-bye.
The sky hung black as the habit of a nun

Or the belly of a crow or vulture, but I
Remember now (as beggars have always done)
The touch of silk and the rhythm of the sky.

Phi Beta Kappa

Phi Beta Kappa was founded on December 5, 1776, at the College of William and Mary, Williamsburg, Virginia. It was the first society to have a Greek letter name, and with its beginning the basic characteristics of all such societies were introduced: secrecy oath (now abandoned), a badge, mottoes in Greek and Latin, a code of laws, an elaborate form of initiation, a seal, and a grip. Regular meetings were held at which the emphasis was placed on literary exercises. Social meetings were also held and the celebration of anniversaries. Many of these gatherings were held in the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern in Williamsburg.

There are 160 chapters today, with a membership of over 141,000. Beta of Tennessee at the University of the South became the second chapter in the state and the one hundred and first in the nation with its formation in 1926.

Omicron Delta Kappa

Omicron Delta Kappa, leadership honor society for men, was founded at Washington and Lee University, Lexington, Virginia, December 3, 1914. The founders conceived of a fraternity that recognized all-round leadership, representing men in all phases of college life which should cooperate in worthwhile endeavor and meet with mutual interest, understanding, and helpfulness.

Omicron Delta Kappa was the first college honor society of national scope to accord recognition and honor for meritorious leadership and service in extracurricular activities and to encourage the development of general campus citizenship. The emphasis for membership is placed on the development of the well-rounded man and high academic proficiency. The five major phases of campus life that the society recognizes and honors are: scholarship, athletics, social and religious affairs, publications, and speech, music, and dramatic arts.

Who's Who

At each college in North America there are a number of those students whose integrity and ability serve to develop and uphold the principles on which these schools stand. Having as their aim recognition of these students, a group of men in 1934 began to publish Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities. Today more than six hundred fifty colleges and universities in the United States and Canada are annually represented in this "atlas of collegiate leadership." Sewanee's nominations for Who's Who are made by the executive committee of the Order of Gownsmen. This committee selects students on personal character, academic excellence, and extracurricular achievement.

Blue Key

Blue Key was founded in 1923 at the University of Florida. It is a national honor fraternity composed of those men who have exemplified exceptional leadership ability and high character. Membership is determined in the fall and in the spring of the academic year on the criterion of scholarship, athletic achievement, and participation in student affairs. In addition, a candidate for membership must display a potential for future growth.

Blue Key sponsors a number of major activities at Sewanee among which are the Inter-Fraternity Blue Key Sing, the Homecoming Queen Contest, and the intramural All-Star football game. By collecting outstanding students into a single organization, which can then work for the best interest of Sewanee, the fraternity serves a valuable purpose in campus life.
